Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Address at Dedication of Monument to Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Indiana, October 27th 1908 Mr. President and Fellow Citizens: More than seven years ago there were here held the obsequies of Benjamin Harrison. We were in sorrow then from the loss of a friend, a neighbor and a good man. Our affliction prevented any clear estimate of him other than in those intimate relations of life where we judge more from the heart than by the mind. We did not then assert his greatness, but bowed in submission to the will of God. The nation was bereaved. The President of the United States, the Governor of this State, the comrades of his military career, his associates in public life, and his fellow-citizens of all parties and of all stations, stood beside the altar and filled the avenues of this, his beloved and loving city; and then with flags all draped, with dirge and tears moved in funeral procession to his sepulchre. Time has abated, without erasing our emotions, and has given a perspective by which we may more justly measure his merit by his deeds. This monument, unveiling his form to our vision and expressing a people's love and esteem for the citizen, the soldier, the statesman, and the patriotic Chief Magistrate, draws our thoughts from his tomb and lifts them on high in praise and gratitude, as we recall his character, his career, and the blessings bestowed by Providence, through him, upon our nation. America is to-day proud of this typical American. By orations and poems, with song and music, and unfolded banners, we dedicate this memorial, and commend his example, for the inspiration...
