Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Recollections: 1828-1911 The career of General E. A. Merritt is a signal illustration of the best features of American social and political life. Descended from old New England stock, his immediate ancestors were soldiers in the Revolutionary struggle and eminent in laying the foundations of civil polity and of social frame work in Vermont, that sturdy and vigorous first representative of the great commonwealths that have clustered about the original thirteen colonies. Largely self-educated and earning as a teacher the means to obtain his own further academic culture. General Merritt began practical life as a surveyor in the fertile region between the St Lawrence river and the Adirondack wilderness, and like the great Washington found in that occupation an expansion of sentiment and sympathy often lost in those who pursue their tasks within narrow walls. He took an interest in all public matters and was of those who aided in the organization of the Republican party in 1854 and was one of the most earnest workers in that cause of free soil and free speech that finally triumphed in the election of President Lincoln. Having become a resident of St. Lawrence county in this State in 1841, it was as a member of the Board of Supervisors of that county and as clerk of the same body, that he first rendered public service from 1854 to 1859. In the latter year he was elected a member of the Legislature and was re-elected to that notable body which, convening on January 1, 1861, by its patriotic endeavor and wise legislation placed New York foremost of the loyal states in the tribute of men and money to...
