Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Weaver s Shuttle (Weberschiffehen): A World Out of Nothing This most clever and original gift has been produced, as have most good things, out of much travail and at no small sacrifice on the part of the author. Not the least element of her sacrifice has been the financial one, for which I do not hesitate to say that I, for one, hope she will be more than repaid. A fair return for such a helpful gift to the child-world is little enough by way of recognition of its value. It is the authors hope that she may find voluntary helpers for the sale of this Christmas Edition, who will give some or all of their profits to aid the wounded soldiers. Most heartily do I second her hope. It should be an easy matter to market so great a boon to the children, in aid of so fine a cause. May I add my sincere hope that this toy if it be only a toy, my feeling is no less strong may be taken up in a large way by some large concern; and this, not only for the sake of the kindly inventor, but for the sake of the children of the land, and to hasten the fulfilment of the author s wish. You who read this, if you love the children, let others read it, too. David Deforest burrell. Foreword Some years ago I wrote a draft of a Play Book, which I meant to dedicate to my favorites, the Little Mothers. It was intended to teach them to make toys such as you see here, each and every one developing...
