Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Lessons in Civics for the Three Primary Grades of City Schools Children s experience the basis of instruction. Instruction in civics must be based on the children s experiences and should result not only in giving clearer and fuller information, but also in creating the mental attitudes and habitual acts that characterize good citizenship at the given age. It is to small purpose, for instance, that a child learns of the organization and work of the Street Cleaning Department if at the same time he continues to be careless about throwing banana skins around. Materials that have place in an elementary civics course. In planning a course in civics for young children there is a temptation to overload it with facts which will be forgotten before they are ever used. We have repeatedly to remind ourselves that any material which has a legitimate place in the course holds that place because it is related to some civic situation in which a child is normally to be found, and his reaction to which is capable of being modified by a civics lesson. Of this sort of material there is no lack. The children of our city schools have many experiences of civic significance upon which instruction can be based; and there are many opportunities for instruction to be immediately applied, greatly to the advantage of themselves, of the city, and of the nation. For example, all city children, even the youngest in school, have had their interest and curiosity aroused by the sight of a burning building and of a fire engine and crew dashing to the rescue. Here is an experience which can be so...
