Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Home, and Other Poems and Songs My Muse Should not my spirit sing As well as e'er it can, From the heart each echo ring Of joy or woe in man? The bird sings in the bough And warbles till the night: Its note or plain or low, It asks not, wrong or right? The robin tunes his lay, Nor mocks the trilling lark, Nor imitates the jay, But keeps his own true mark. Why should it fear me much To tune my swelling heart, That Tennyson and such Have sung a higher part? I'll sing, while I have life, What deep I know or feel: The burthen and the strife, Of souls the woe or weal, About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
