The New Yorker cost 75 cents. And on the cover unfolded Saul Steinberg's vision of the world: New York City, the Hudson River, and then . . . well, it's really just a bunch of stuff you needn't concern yourself with. Steinberg's brilliant depiction of the world according to self-satisfied New Yorkers placed him squarely in the pantheon of the magazine's (& the era's) most celebrated artists. * But if you look beyond the searing wit & stunning artistry, you'll find one of the most fascinating lives of the 20th century. Born in Romania, Steinberg was educated in Milan & was already famous for his satirical drawings when World War...
